Democratic Impatience

[illegible] YORK, October 31.—A Herald [illegible]ington dispatch dated yesterday: "A promise was made in New York [illegible] the president to prominent [illegible]crats regarding Sackville's dismis[illegible] and it was known it would certainly [illegible]ried out. It was expected the news [illegible] reach New York this morning. It did not caused great dissatisfac[illegible] in political circles. The following [illegible] substance of a telegram received [illegible] morning by members of the cabinet [illegible] several members of the democratic [illegible]ional committee in New York: The [illegible]ashington telegram in to-day's papers [illegible] most disappointing about the Sackville matter. Does the president know the Irish vote is slipping out of our hands because of diplomatic shillyshal[illegible]lying? See [illegible] at once. Something ought to be done to-day."

[illegible] on Sackville's Blunder.

NEW YORK, October 30.—The World's Toronto special says: In dominion government circle the opinion is generally hostile to Cleveland for giving Sackville his walking papers. Prof. Goldwin Smith says Sackville's letter was a [illegible]pable blunder, that his usefulness is ended. Canadian liberals take similar grounds. Sackville's dismissal is considered an act of great unfriendliness to Great Britain. At the St. James club several Orange politicians said it fully warranted Orange leaders in Canada in advising all Orangemen in the United States to vote for Harrison. The report that Sir Charles Tupper will be appointed to Sackville's place is altogether dis[illegible].

Sir John Macdonald, the Canadian premier, at Sherbrooke, said: "Directly criticising any action of the president of the United States is not one of my weak[illegible] but if you want to know what I think of the condition of affairs brought about by Lord Sackville's indiscretion I will say it is unfortunate and deplorable to the last degree. The democratic and republican parties and their representatives in power know that trouble with Canada could be made a powerful political factor if judiciously used.

"Do you think with Lord Sackville that President Cleveland is very friendly to England?"

"I don't believe Lord Sackville thinks that, but I believe were Harrison president [illegible] just as friendly, for the sake of international comity and the peaceful settlement of international questions as Cleveland is. Cleveland is just [illegible] Hawaiian Islands or Siam. No more, no less."

MONTREAL, October 31.—The Herald says the dismissal of Sackville was extreme and unusual. It admits Sackville blundered and his recall or voluntary withdrawal was looked for.

TORONTO, October 31.—The Globe says: Sackville is the victim of a despicable trick and of his own folly.

NEW YORK, October 31.—The Herald's London special says: The reported appointment of Sir Charles Tupper is not even serious consideration on this side of the water. It is simply attributed to a few of Tupper's friends in Canada.

The Sackville Affair.

WASHINGTON, October 31.—By action of the government yesterday Lord Sack[illegible] is no longer minister, and the second secretary of the British legation naturally becomes the official representative. Mr. Edwards, the first secretary, is absent and will not return for some time, so Michael Herbert [illegible] is now acting minister.

At the British legation silence is maintained. Lord Sackville refused to see anyone to-day and members of the legation who were seen said all was uncertainty as to his departure from Washington.

[illegible] Oct. [illegible] The [illegible] announces that Lord Sackville [illegible] to England [illegible] distance, that he has important business [illegible] attend to in connection with his [illegible] to the Sackville estates and [illegible] return to Washington.

[illegible] Burchard.

[illegible] October 31.—[illegible] on the Sackville case the [illegible] the morning [illegible] blundered in not sending [illegible] his passport as soon as [illegible] of the correspondence [illegible] He blundered [illegible] [illegible] in [illegible] the [illegible] country [illegible] The Times [illegible] [illegible] Mr. Cleveland and [illegible] [illegible] is the Burchard of [illegible] [illegible] Mr. Cleve[illegible] [illegible] election.

[illegible] News says: [illegible] Lord Sackville [illegible] as compared [illegible] Forty per cent. of Colorado's [illegible]

[illegible] population in Ireland. [illegible] were born in Ireland. It is reasonable to infer therefore that the [illegible] which is expected to [illegible] for Substitute Harrison [illegible] in this commonwealth, for what it is worth. President Cleveland has secured many admirers here outside the ranks of his party, men who believe with George W. Childs of Philadelphia that he [illegible] given the country an earnest, honest and [illegible] administration at home and [illegible] our foreign relations.

Bayard's Boomerang.

LONDON, October 31.—The Pall Mall Gazette says: If Secretary Bayard's [illegible] of Lord Sackville fails to convince Irish voters that President Cleveland can be relied upon to check John Bull as much as any other man, we do not see what there is left for him to do short of placing Lord Sackville under arrest and [illegible] the frontier. How silly [illegible] How much Americans will [illegible] themselves for it when the election [illegible] is over."

The St. James Gazette says: As Lord Sackville is technically in the wrong England cannot resent the affront which Mr. Bayard has [illegible] Englishmen can only pity American statesmen for the strange things they do in order to oblige caucuses.

The Globe says: The [illegible] government might [illegible] very strained relations between the two countries. Fortunately its true character is recognized on both sides. Lord Sackville has [illegible] treatment by both Mr. Bayard and President Cleveland. If the minister comes back it will be simply because Mr. Cleveland's ambition to be elected president a second term soars far above the requirements of international courtesy and good will.

Thurman's Canvass.

WHEELING, W. Va., October 31.—Judge Thurman and party left here this morning for Newark, Ohio, where the Judge will speak this afternoon. He then goes to his home in Columbus. After the Newark speech he will speak only once more this campaign, at Nelsonville, Ohio.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, October 31.—In a brief speech here Thurman said neither Murchison, Sackville nor any other [illegible] alone could prevent the democratic party from winning.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, October 31.—Judge Thurman and party arrived home at 8 o'clock. They were met at the depot by a large procession of democratic clubs which escorted the judge home.

The Czar's Latest Escape.

ST. PETERSBURG, October 31.—The official statement regarding the accident to the czar's train Monday is as follows: A train containing the czar and czarina and suite left [illegible] Monday. While passing through a deep gorge [illegible] time of the accident the czar and [illegible] were in the saloon carriage at luncheon. When the first carriage left the track the rest of the train [illegible] succeeding carriage keeled over. The saloon carriage although remaining on the track, was badly shattered. The roof fell in, but rested on a portion of the side, thus forming a shield for the occupants. It seems incredible that with such havoc any of the occupants of the train should have escaped [illegible] But God protected the czar and his family, who were taken from the debris uninjured. Some other occupants of the train received slight contusions. The only person severely injured was General Scheremetieff, aide de camp of the czar.

The Grashdanin states that the train was drawn by two engines and consisted of several carriages besides the saloon carriage. The latter was of [illegible] construction. The train was running [illegible] versts an hour. When the first engine left the track it ploughed up the road bed and imbedded itself in the earth. The second engine ran on top of the first and was wrecked. The first and second carriages were also wrecked. They were occupied by court servants and railway officials among whom Baron St. Joinval, chief inspector of railways, was badly injured. Generals Vannovski and Tcherevin, who were in the saloon carriage with the imperial family, received contusions. The czar and czarina remained at the scene some time, giving attention to the injured. [illegible] they returned to Zosowaja, the last station they had left. Religious services have been held throughout the empire giving thanks for the escape of the imperial family.

The Grashdanin [illegible] the official report of the accident in regard to the casualties. It [illegible] that 20 persons were killed, including Captain [illegible] staff [illegible] soldiers of the railway battalion [illegible] The [illegible] Chekoff [illegible]

ELECTION TACTICS.

A Political Sensation Sprung by Indiana Democrats.

Col. Dudley Charged with Proposing Improper Methods.

A Published Letter Promptly Declared a Forgery.

Political Processions in New York Engage in a Riot.

An Indiana Sensation.

INDIANAPOLIS, October [illegible]—The publication by the Sentinel (democratic) this morning of what purports to be a [illegible] typewritten letter [illegible] Dudley, treasurer of the [illegible] committee, giving instructions [illegible] the election in Indiana is the political sensation here. Copies of the alleged letter were furnished [illegible] democratic newspapers [illegible] [illegible] Early in the day Colonel Dudley wired [illegible] of the Indianapolis News declaring the letter a forgery and threatening to prosecute any paper publishing the same. Editor Morse of the Sentinel avows his conviction of the genuineness of the authorship and signature of the letter.

Chairman Huston of the republican committee [illegible] stating that Colonel Dudley has had nothing to do with the management of the Indiana campaign [illegible] Huston had not been advising or corresponding with Dudley, and knew nothing of any intention on the latter's part to address any letter to anybody in Indiana [illegible] the [illegible] employment of the people [illegible] in connection [illegible] repudiated it on behalf of himself and the state central committee. The suggestion is fairly contrary to the plans and purposes of his committee.

The letter fails to prove the sanction of the Indiana campaign. The printed letter head of the national republican committee [illegible] does not correspond in type or style with the fac simile letter head printed in the Sentinel.

Fight of Political Paraders.

NEW YORK, October 31.—A republican procession composed chiefly of colored men met a democratic procession at Twenty-sixth street and Sixth avenue to-day [illegible] stones [illegible] [illegible] windows were smashed and several [illegible] The colored republicans [illegible] the members of the democratic association of the [illegible] [illegible] Missiles flew in all directions [illegible] were everywhere had. The stores were all closed between Twenty-sixth and Thirty-first streets and shopkeepers, with drawn revolvers protected their property [illegible] A large force of police [illegible] [illegible] arrested several. Fourteen were seriously wounded, two of them [illegible] Several shots were fired during the fray but so far as [illegible]

Election Bets.

DENVER, October 31.—The Times tonight announced that money had been deposited with them to cover the following wagers: $[illegible] to $[illegible] that Job A. Cooper will be elected governor; $[illegible] that Job A. Cooper will have 2,000 plurality; $[illegible] that W. H. Brisbane will be elected [illegible] $[illegible] that James A. Rice will have 2,000 plurality; $[illegible] that M. B. Carpenter will be elected; $[illegible] that I. N. Stevens will have 500 plurality; $[illegible] Frank F. Cochran will have [illegible] plurality; [illegible] J. F. Gardiner will have 700 plurality; $[illegible] John D. McGilvray will be elected [illegible] that Harrison will carry New York [illegible] Harrison will carry the following states: New York, Connecticut [illegible] [illegible] and New Jersey. [illegible] the negotiations. He had written Gladstone and it was arranged that any answers he might make should be sent to Parnell at Paris. Gladstone's reply was sent to Parnell who responded in April. [illegible] Parnell on returning from Paris saw Gladstone. Parnell was anxious for the release from prison of Michael Davitt but he objected to Brennan's release. Parnell authorized witness to communicate with the government. Parnell undertook to do his utmost for the suppression of boycotting and outrages. He promised if the government would settle the arrears question satisfactorily he would advise tenants to pay their rents, and would denounce outrages and resistance to the law and all sorts of intimidation. Witness asked Parnell if he was sure he would be able to carry out his promise and suppress outrages. Parnell gave him assurances that he had.

Sir Charles Russell, counsel for the Parnellites, declined to cross examine O'Shea at present. He said the witness [illegible] return for cross examination.

Parnell had said Sheridan would be a most useful man in the work of putting down boycotting if he could only see [illegible] Boyton and Egan would also be useful. When Parnell was in Kilmainham jail a letter was written signed by Parnell which witness took to Foster [illegible] chief secretary for Ireland. The letter expressed Parnell's opinion that if the arrears question was settled he and his colleagues would be able to suppress outrages. Finally after the Phoenix park murder Parnell showed witness the anti-murder manifesto. It was [illegible] said witness, to say Parnell was not in favor of the manifesto.

Seven letters were here shown the witness who declared with certainty that the signatures attached were those of Parnell. Capt. O'Shea on cross examination said Buckle, editor of the Times had asked Joseph Chamberlain to get him to give evidence. Witness denied ever having threatened Parnell although he had once turned him out of his rooms in Dublin. There was in existence compromising letters and documents and it had been said he was engaged in a conspiracy to get these letters. He had been anxious to give evidence in order to clear himself and refute the slanders circulated by Parnell and his colleagues. [illegible] a nationalist told him Parnell paid for the escape of Byrne. Many [illegible] when there was danger of a select committee of parliament being appointed to inquire into [illegible] and it was suggested to him that the utmost reticence [illegible] to be observed on the subject.

Sir Charles Russell—[illegible] by whom?

Witness—By Sir William Vernon Harcourt, who said it was the opinion of another person, namely, Gladstone.

This statement caused a sensation in the court. O'Shea added it was Gladstone's wishes that he should be [illegible] aside from motives of political expediency. Witness said he never had any doubt about the signatures of the Times letters. He had had numerous [illegible] Parnell [illegible] the same date as the letter referred to and could not mistake the writing.

AN AMERICAN INQUIRY.

DENVER, October 31.—A well known Irish attorney to-day received information from London to the effect that after reaching a certain stage in the proceedings of the Times-Parnell investigation the judges constituting the commission would appoint a sub-commission who would go to America to take testimony relative to the utterances of the Irish nationalists in this country. The sub-commission will hold sessions in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Denver, and will subpœna witnesses from all parts of the country who will be examined as to their utterances as published in the various papers. The gentleman, who expects to appear as one of the attorneys in the case, further stated that if the witnesses failed to appear before the commission that it would [illegible] to answer the questions that may be propounded them.

BAYARD AT BALTIMORE

The Secretary of State Addresses a Democratic Audience.

He Speaks in Modest Praise of his Administration

And of the Difficulties he has Successfully Overcome.

The Sackville Affair Denounced in Bitter Terms.

Bayard on the Stump.

BALTIMORE, October 31.—Three thousand democrats to-night attended a meeting at Oratorio hall under the auspices of the Jeffersonian Democratic association. Secretary Bayard was the principal speaker, and when he [illegible] to the audience was accorded [illegible] seldom given a public man [illegible] In his speech he reviewed [illegible] issues of the campaign [illegible] terms of highest eulogy [illegible] President Cleveland, Judge Thurman and the acts of the present administration. Believe me [illegible] in this portion of his remarks [illegible] for the last [illegible] years has been no holiday pastime. It has been a hard, flinty hill up which Grover Cleveland has toiled but thank God the light of the coming sun welcomes him now. Look everywhere and you find Americans like brothers arrayed in the service of this Union under the democratic administration. [Applause.] Look in his cabinet and you find there men attached by the same spirit of devotion to public duty that marks their chief. [Applause.] Look at your judiciary. Was it not time that the great and last resort of the American people with its mighty and exceptional jurisdiction should find with in it a man who loved and was beloved by the southern people [applause], not only respected and honored by the southern people, but honored, respected and trusted wherever the name of Lamar was heard.

Referring to the Sackville-Murchison incident the secretary said: "Gentlemen there are political birds of prey that fatten and rejoice over the carcass of dead and exposed slanders and falsehoods. This country has been the witness in the last week of an interruption for the time being only of its relations with a foreign and friendly power. It was made necessary. The act was not the act of the people of the United States [illegible] in sympathy with them or with their interest. It was the wretched plot of despairing politicians or the conspiracy of despairing politicians to bring discredit upon a class of our adopted citizens for the purpose of creating unjust prejudice in the minds of another class of our adopted citizens, a slander upon [illegible] and a foul attempt to mislead others. It cannot be defended. A man that would coin a lie to defeat his political opponent would poison the well of his enemy in time of war and slaughter his wife and children. [Applause.] Against [illegible] I call upon the [illegible] honest sentiment of every [illegible] citizen to resent this insult thus offered to our country by these persons. If, as the saying goes, the receiver is as bad as the thief what have you to say of the men who in public speeches will gloat and cheer and clap their hands over the proof of infamy committed for the sake of political supremacy. Whatever may be our differences as to our personal admirations whatever may be the question of our di[illegible] upon non essentials, let us at least resolve that ours shall be a government of honest self respecting men. Let us establish such a tone, such a standard of morals all over the land that when a man goes abroad into other countries or stays at home he may say with just pride and gratitude, 'Thank God, I am an American citizen.'" [Applause and enthusiasm.]

An Important [illegible]

PHILADELPHIA, October 31.—A non suit was to-day granted by Judge Gordon, the history of and the reasons for which will prove of interest to business houses and financial institutions that have dealings with commercial agencies. Crew, Levick & Co., oil merchants, sued the Bradstreet company to recover damages for alleged untrue information furnished them. The plaintiffs had asked the agency to give them a report of the Union Refining and Manufacturing company, of New Jersey, and they reported that the company had a paid up capital of $500,000 and were in good condition. On the strength of this, Crew, Levick & Co. gave them credit for the amount [illegible] have never been able to collect. It was alleged that the Union Refinery company were insolvent at the time the report was furnished. The judge on a motion for a non suit granted it on the grounds that the contract was [illegible] between two private people, the defendant corporation being a private and not a public one, and that Crew, Levick & Co. in signing the contract with them had waived the right to recover on the grounds on which they are now striving to get a verdict. He said that if they could have proved wilful or malicious neglect the circumstances would have been different.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE & LOANS,

NO. 9 NORTH TEJON STREET.

We represent only OLD-TIME and RELIABLE INSURANCE COMPANIES—Companies that expect to PAY A LOSS when it occurs, so that we can guarantee in all cases a PROMPT, EQUITABLE and SATISFACTORY adjustment of Loss should a fire occur. This is worthy of consideration.

IN REAL ESTATE we aim to handle only the most desirable properties, as we find that SUCH PROPERTIES ONLY give satisfaction. We give a partial list below, to which we invite attention. NOW IS THE TIME TO INVEST, as with the fall months, the coming of the "Rock Island" and other roads there is bound to be a much greater advance. CALL AND SECURE a home now.

INSURANCE WRITTEN AT LOWEST RATES AND IN FIRST-CLASS COMPANIES.

The opening up of Platte Avenue [illegible] from Acacia Park brings into the market the most desirable portion of our city for residences. There is now a good [illegible] and no one should fail to drive out and take a view from that locality before investing. Boulder Heights, only three blocks from Acacia Park east, furnishes the finest residence property anywhere to be found near to our city. The entire tract is under the Irrigating Ditch [illegible] water [illegible] by each lot. Don't fail to visit this locality before buying. Being located within six blocks of the center of our city makes it very desirable, and at present prices we feel that we can Fully Recommend these lots as investments that will double in value within a very short time. All we ask is an inspection of lots and prices.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Colorado Springs, Octo[illegible]

THE WHITE MIAMI.

[illegible]ANCES SLOCUM, ONCE A CAPTIVE AMONG THE WABASH INDIANS.

[illegible] Is One of the [illegible] Romances of the Early Pioneer Days and Has [illegible] Made the Basis of Many Thrilling [illegible]

[Special Correspondence.]

Peru, Ind., Oct. 21.—[illegible] hundred years ago there stood [illegible] the Mi[illegible] southwest of what is now Lafayette [illegible] a collection of something [illegible] built houses and Indian huts [illegible] Ouiatanon. It was the first post of the French [illegible] Make[illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] French traders [illegible] and [illegible] of civilization [illegible] mingled Indian and European blood. Eastward the territory of the Miamis [illegible] the Big Miami and westward to the [illegible] while they ranged from lake Michigan to the Ohio, and it is probable [illegible] were pure Miamis. [illegible] branches of this aboriginal [illegible] share of this fair heritage [illegible] them will [illegible] as illustration of an [illegible] the early romantic story of Frances S[locum], the white captive from Pennsylvania.

When the French first traveled the Wabash and Mississippi valleys they found all the Indian nations in a strange transition [illegible] the general movement being [illegible] smaller movement from east to west. The first Indians they knew in the Wabash country were the Illeeneo or [illegible] "real men," a self flattering title [illegible] which the French transformed into the [illegible] plural Illinois. Down upon these [illegible] Miamis from the far northwest, [illegible] their course back to [illegible] Iowa, and soon they dominated [illegible] of the Wabash. Then [illegible] known as Weas, Twightees, [illegible], etc. Among them came the Pottawattomies, a ferocious race from the [illegible] wilderness north of Lake Huron, [illegible] leaving only a remnant on the Wabash [illegible] turned to the west. Meanwhile [illegible] Wau-pa-nuck-ee, or Lenni Lenapes, whom the first settlers in Pennsylvania named "Delawares" because they met them on that stream, were slowly retreating before the ever advancing whites across Pennsylvania and Ohio. They fell back till they occupied central Indiana, and as late as 1820 Anderson and Killibuck, Delaware chiefs, ruled the region where Indianapolis now is. Then their westward march was resumed—across Illinois and across Missouri, then [illegible] halted for a final home in the lovely Delaware reservation in Kansas. In [illegible] civilization again crowded on them and they abandoned their tribal organization, and to the number of 1,500 took "head rights" in and became citizens of the Cherokee nation.

The Kickapoos halted long and left a [illegible] among the Miamis, the main part continued westward, finally dissolved their organization and were for the most part absorbed among the wild tribes of the Rocky mountains. Pure blooded Kickapoos are still seen in Mexico, still [illegible] hostile to white Americans. The Mingoes after their expulsion from West Virginia and [illegible] northern [illegible] The "Gens [illegible]" or "Eaters," driven from their original seat on Lake Erie by the New York Indians, were allowed by the Miamis to pass through the latter's country and went to Tennessee, thence they went [illegible] again to Florida, where the Su[wan]nee river attests their residence and [illegible] change of name. Driven away by the encroaching whites they returned [illegible] to the Ohio and Wabash, and the band known as Shawnees located along the Wabash from Shawnee creek to the Tippecanoe and beyond. The Miamis [illegible] tolerated the new squatters, and a Shawnee band produced the celebrated Tecumseh and Elkswatawa—"The Prophet." Another band of Shawnees went to Canada, Tecumseh incited them to fight the Americans, and, charging them on at the battle of the Th[ames], died as became a warrior.

Of course all these tribes occasionally captured whites, and when not too old the captives [illegible] became thorough Indians, for the wild life is natural to man, and while it takes [illegible] years to civilize [illegible] a smart white boy can go wild in six months. So there were a few [illegible] and many Franco-Indians in the tribes, and the first settlers remarked with some surprise that the white [illegible] avoided them quite as much as the Indians, and some say more. Their [illegible] relatives explained that they were afraid of being taken back to the whites. [In] 1833 the Miamis having shrunk to a [illegible] band, located on a reservation in [Mi]ami county, Ind., Col. G. W. Ewing, a trader, met an old woman known as Ma[illegible] near Peru, and some years after [illegible] an account for the Pennsylvania [illegible], of which this is an extract:

[illegible] near this place, among the [illegible] tribe of Indians, an aged white woman [illegible] A few days ago told me while I lodged in the [illegible] with her [illegible] that she was taken away [illegible] father's house, on or near the Susquehanna river when she was young, say from 5 to 6 [illegible] old, she thinks, by the Delaware Indians [illegible] then hunting [illegible] the whites. She says her father's name was Slocum, that he was a Quaker, rather small in stature, and wore a large, broad brimmed hat, had sandy hair, light complexion, and was much freckled; that he lived about half a mile from a town where there was a [illegible] in a wood house two stories high and had a spring near the house. She says three Delawares came to the house in the daytime, when all were [illegible] but herself and perhaps two other [illegible] children. Her father and brothers were [illegible] The Indians carried her off, and she was adopted into a family of Delawares, who raised her and treated her as their own child.

Mr. Isaac J. Slocum, near Wilkesbarre, Pa., at once recognized it as the case of his aunt, who was stolen at the age of 5, [and] her brother Isaac went to Peru and identified the captive by a scar which [illegible] in boyhood by an accidental cut. Her memory revived in conversation with him, and her identity was completely established. Then her remaining brother Joseph, and her only sister, Mrs. Mary Town, visited the woman in 1837, but she had taken [illegible] gossip among the Indians that all captives were to be returned, and peremptorily refused to see her relatives till the authorities gave her an assurance that she could remain with the Indians. [illegible] remained some time at her home [illegible] of the Mississinewa [illegible] much charmed by the [illegible] and kindly conduct of their relatives of the blood, for Frances had four daughters [illegible] and several grandchildren. She declared her life in captivity, asserting that [she] had always lived in plenty and happiness among the Indians. She was captured in 1778 near Wilkesbarre, Pa., and died in 1847 at an advanced age.

[In] 1840 the Miamis relinquished their title to the remaining lands in Indiana, except the tracts reserved for such as [illegible] to become citizens, and [illegible] tribe went to Kansas [illegible] to the Indian territory. So mingled [illegible] however that, as late as 1880 [illegible] on any [illegible] day in Peru [illegible] groups of [illegible] Indians [illegible] and even [illegible] not excite the [illegible] where Gabriel Godfrey [illegible] descendant of one of the greatest Miami chiefs still lives on [illegible] farm at the junction of the Wabash and Mississinewa [illegible] brick [illegible] but an Indian [illegible] Christian in his general [illegible]

ROSWELL CITY!

WHERE IS IT? Why, just adjoining the City Limits on the north at the WESTERN TERMINUS of the Great Rock Island Railroad,

Where their shops are to be built and where under precisely the same conditions we shall see

A Second Colorado City.

Mechanics, Artisans, Investors, Tradesmen, Professional Men, Day Laborers

Here is the opportunity you have been waiting for ever since the announcement made last spring that the Rock Island railroad had decided to build to Colorado Springs.

The Beautiful Tract of Land in which Roswell City is Located is almost at your Door

It is within twenty minutes drive of the finest portion of Colorado Springs, and is situated on the west side of the Monument river, the same side of the river as the lands of the Rock Island railroad, where the buildings of the railroad company are now in course of erection. The station of Roswell has been established at this point, the round house and station being within 400 feet of what is to be the principal business street of the city. The lands of the Rock Island railroad and those of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad extend for half a mile along the eastern border of this new city, and furnish excellent facilities for the establishment of manufactories and for shipment.

The location of this new city is on ground sloping gently to the east, rising gradually from the railroad track towards the mesa on the west, and furnishes most beautiful and finely protected building sites for the thriving city which is bound to spring up at once in that locality.

There is no doubt about it, that this is the best chance to make money on lots, that has ever been offered in this vicinity.

Prices are Very Low, Terms Easy, and Values will Doubtless Double or Treble in a Few Weeks.

Negotiations are about concluded with a large manufacturing plant, to locate in the new city, and many others are sure to follow on account of its superior facilities.

To meet the immediate demands for dwellings, the company will erect a score of houses and stores, which will be ready for occupancy within three weeks.

GO AND INVESTIGATE FOR YOURSELVES and we will guarantee that if you are looking for an investment or a home, you will not have to look any further.

THE ROSWELL LAND AND TOWN COMPANY.

[Special Correspondence.]

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—When the annex to the Museum of Fine Arts is finished Boston will offer the student of sculpture, ornament and architecture a collection of casts which has but two superiors in the world—those of the [illegible] The Boston museum does not afford much interest to the student of painting, because it cannot afford to buy great pictures and will not cover its walls with poor daubs. In its first year it raised a blast of disapproval because it refused to keep the paintings given it by Charles Sumner, and sold them for a goodly sum with which to buy plaster casts.

The annex which is now building carries out the original design of this handsome structure, which is that of a square about an interior court [illegible] the old front [illegible] is decorated with elaborate terra cotta designs after a [illegible] [illegible] fund of [illegible] at the rate of $7,000 a year.

FALCON!

Located at the Junction of the Great Rock Island and Pan Handle Railroads.

From the north, south, east and west, people are flocking in. There is an unaccountable magnetism about this place hard to resist. Everyone feels confident and sure that an investment in Falcon at the present prices on lots will bring a rich reward.

Occasionally there is a Real Estate coward who thinks the whole world is going bankrupt, who would not purchase at any price unless he could have a chromo thrown in.

We haven't any use for such people, notwithstanding we are glad to show parties what we have, whether they purchase or not. It is more gratifying to [illegible] intelligent man who can appreciate the fact that we have something to sustain a town—that [illegible] will increase in valuation rapidly; that we have a beautiful little lake, a [illegible] hotel, two large lumber yards, one weekly newspaper, a splendid climate to [illegible] water, besides a great many other items we might enumerate.
